

Very often organizations make the strategic decision to change their computing platforms and embrace a new hardware platform and/or a new software environment. This introduces several new issues of vital importance which must be addressed to maintain business continuity and successful integration. UST has solid experience in this area and can help in making Application Migration smooth and painless by providing the following:

- Business Process Impact Analysis
- Code Conversion
- Unit and Integration Testing
- Data conversion
- Implementation